

Supporting First Responders

At Canopy, we understand that public safety employees and their families face unique challenges. In response, we have developed specialized services for your population, and these are currently available to you under the EAP agreement. Unique public safety services include:

Specialized Network of Counselors and Coaches:

Canopy has developed an extensive specialized network of providers who are experienced with the specific issues that public safety officers and their families face every day. Through our database, we can easily connect public safety employees and their family members to these contracted providers. We prioritize referrals to our EAP counselors who are also in-network with member's medical insurance plans to ensure continuity of care whenever possible.

First Responder Self-Help Resources:

A specialized collection of assessments, videos, self-use modules and interactive tools available through our members' only website. To access, visit my.canopywell.com, register as a new user with unique company code, and navigate to the "First Responder" tile.

Suicide Prevention and Support:

Canopy is accredited by the American Association of Suicidology. More information about Canopy's services for suicide prevention, intervention and response can be found at www.canopywell.com.

Specialized Promotion:

Customized promotional materials for Public Safety employees and available upon request.
